long hair frilly dresses?
Let's face it. It's* too petite & feminine to successfully look like a boy.
Hell, if it* were 5 inches taller, I'd go full out mole mode all the time.
*it = Snail Body
Feminine? Fine, I'll have "them" removed.
WHICH "THEM" are you preferring to?
Either way OH HELL NO! Don't you dare!

When I was little, I used to flip imaginary tables questioning my mom, "Why wasn't I born a boy?" Growing up, it often feels like a male and a female soul both reside within my body.

Snailords' manual

How to get me to hug the screen with your words

1. Male pronouns
2. Male pronouns.
3. Male pronouns.

I don't care if you call me pretty, beautiful etc,
As long as there's no 'girl' in it.

How to get on my bad side in a snap

1. Talk to me before breakfast.
2. Ask for my biological gender.

3. Rub in my face what you think my biological gender is.
4. "She, Princess, Queen, Girl" me.

I don't care that my face is feminine as fu.
I don't care if you caught me in a dress and heels.
I don't care if my hair hongs down my waist.

I am still manly as fu.

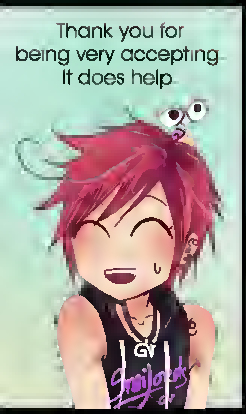
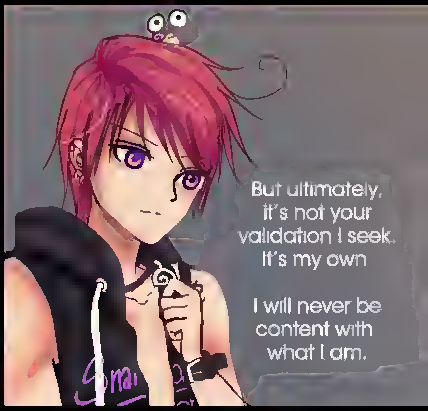
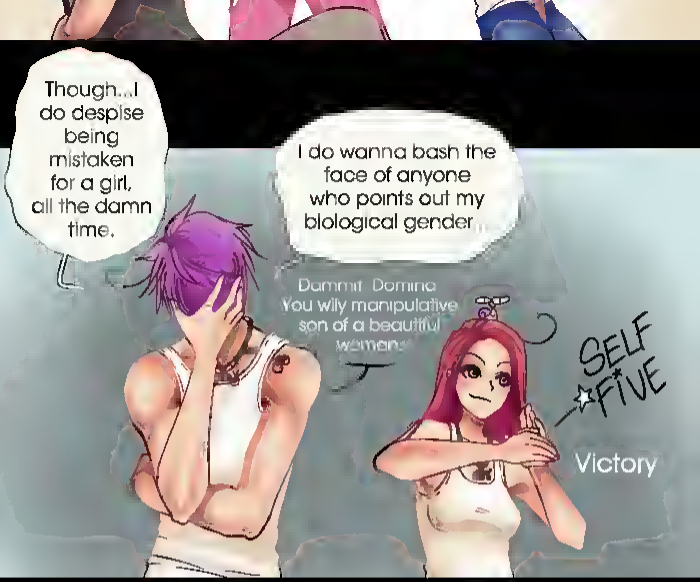
WE APPROVE!



Thank you for being very accepting. It does help.



But ultimately, it's not your validation I seek. It's my own
I will never be content with what I am.



Though...I do despise being mistaken for a girl, all the damn time.
I do wanna bash the face of anyone who points out my biological gender...
